Swimming lesson sessions bring a wave to Aquaventure Water Park

On Wednesday, May 17, anxious Aquaventure patrons eagerly waited in line to register for the swimming lesson sessions available. The first person in line arrived around 1:30 in the afternoon! Due to the stormy weather a waiting room was set up in the women's locker room. When that was filled, those left waiting outside stretched from the locker room entrance all the way to the entrance of the baseball park. It is not uncommon for the water park to host a long line of enthusiastic park-goers determined to register their young swimmers before the spots are filled.

Registration lasted from 5:30 until 7:00 and many sessions were filled. There are still a few sessions remaining if you would like to register your child. Aquaventure Water Park is set to open for business over Memorial Day weekend.
